The High Road Upper School of Prince George's County serves the instructional and behavioral needs of students with emotional disturbances in a structured and supportive environment. With over 20 years of company experience informing all of our programs and procedures, we're distinctly prepared to best meet the educational needs of this particular population, concentrating our efforts on guiding students to attain personalized academic, behavioral, and transitional goals to ensure their continued development and growth.

Because we specialize in high-school-aged students (in both a graded and a non-graded program), we place great emphasis on our comprehensive Life Skills Program, which combines traditional classwork, hands-on tutorials, one-on-one instructional sessions, and on- and off-site activities to equip young adults with the skills and know-how they'll need to function properly and productively in society at large following graduation. This program is therefore comprised of five components — (1) Academic Curriculum; (2) Vocational Training; (3) Behavioral & Social Skills; (4) Community Immersion; and (5) Independent Living Instruction — and since its inception in 2005, we're proud to say that the program has graduated 100% of its seniors.

With the greatest strengths of our program working on behalf of all of our students every day — like our small class sizes, our supplementary support services, and our individualized approach to education — we're able to lead our students toward success in all facets of their lives, in the classroom, at home, and in the community.
