The High Road School of Prince George's County specializes in educating students with mild to severe emotional/behavioral difficulties and the related learning challenges that often accompany them. From the start, we've been committed above all else to making each student feel successful in all areas of life — in the classroom, at home, and in the community — through scholastic achievement and improved self-esteem. As such, all of our programs and initiatives focus on providing targeted emotional support and academic instruction to fulfill students' immediate and long-term goals.

To accomplish this, we take the time to get to know each of our students, we identify the teaching styles most appropriate to their needs, and we custom-tailor an individualized educational plan to address their particular challenges and highlight their particular strengths and aptitudes. We then implement these personalized plans in a highly structured and nurturing setting that features small class sizes, one-on-one interactive learning, comprehensive behavior management, and an effective rotational model of classroom instruction.

Given the special needs of our student body, we also offer supplementary services on an as-needed basis and we employ highly skilled and wholly dedicated special educators, ensuring that each child receives the specific types of attention and intervention they require for their ongoing development and growth.
